REALTY NEWS OF THE WEEK. DAYTONA SUES THE COUNTY

Port Orange Property on a Boom—A List of Warranty Deeds Filed for Record the Week Past.

DeLand, March 10.—During the past week there have not been as many deeds for Daytona real estate filed for record with the clerk of circuit court as is usual but never the less some very valuable property has changed hands. Property at Port Orange seems to be on a little boom just at present. The same may be said of New Smyrna real estate. A list of the transfers that will be of interest to a great many readers of the News follows:

Bills Have Been Filed in Chancery Against the County Commissioners by Daytona and Ormond.

DeLand, March 10.—U. M. Bennett, the solicitor of the complainants, has filed bills in chancery against the board of county commissioners of Volusia county for monies alleged to be wrongfully withheld from the city of Daytona and the town of Ormond. The amount claimed by Daytona is in the neighborhood of $3,000, while Ormond claims $1,000 as her share. The amount alleged to be due the municipalities is for their prorata share of road tax for several years past.

High School Notes.

The High School contest resulted as follows: Freshman class, Roberta Hobbs, 1st place; Sophomore class, Dollie Jackson, 1st place; Junior class, Billie Baggett, 1st place. Judges: Seeman, Kellum and Berryman gave careful thought to the matter in hand, using the college method of grading in such contests. Many of the students who did not rank first received high compliments on their work.

Amongst the visitors, the large per cent of gentlemen was quite noticeable.

The students deserve credit for furnishing a pleasant afternoon for their friends as well as a profitable one for themselves.

Our school grounds frequently receive comments on their cleanly appearance, and we are beginning to believe that we have a janitor who looks well to the interests of the property in his charge.

The Ferris Wheel will be with you to take you off the earth, at the Carnival, March 14 to 18. Mr. Hays, the manager, says that all orphan children with their parents will be allowed to ride free of charge on the Ferris Wheel, March 14-18.

J. W. Leonard has arrived from Jersey City and joined his wife at Schmidt's Villa.

HE'S WORRIED.

I told myself above a thought
That you could ever prove untrue,
Nor would I find a fault with aught
But detest is a convicted heart.
Who rather seems to need a chill,
Or no encouragement, at least,
I am not jealous, love, but still—
His foolish smirking stings my life,
His would be smartness makes me mind.
I think, though, if you did not smile
It really would not seem so bad.
It's insignificant, I know;
His intellect is simply nil;
You need not seem to like him though,
I am not jealous, love, but still—
Why, you let him take your hand,
You might dismiss him with a frown.
Perhaps I do not care a bit,
He's too familiar anyhow.
He's just the sort of person it
Would give me great delight to kill.
Of course, I do not care a bit,
I am not jealous, love, but still—

Wedded Bills.

"I'm surprised at you, old man. How can you let a pretty girl like that carry a heavy suit case without offering to help her?"
"Easy. That's my wife." San Francisco Examiner

Eyes and No Eyes.

The stranger entered the office timidly. He eyed the office boy, who was seated in the most comfortable chair the place boasted, his legs gracefully resting upon his desk. Nonchalantly he pulled at a magnificent Flor de Woodbine, and, after a cursory glance at the stranger, he once more immersed himself in the pages of "Polly the Policat, or, The Mystery of a Dustman's Darling." "Excuse me," said the visitor. "Is Mr. Bazman in?" But a contemptuous glance was all the reply he obtained from the figure in the chair. "I wanted to know if Mr. Bazman was in?" he ventured again after a short wait. And at last the boy turned. "Don't ask such a silly question, guv'nor," he said. "Use your eyes, and you'll save yourself and other people a lot of trouble. Now, I put it to you: Do you think I should be taking things like this if he was in? Go away and dust your brains." And he started a fresh chapter of that mystery with a scornful laugh.—Birmingham (England) Post.

His Title.

"Yes," he said, endeavoring to impress her, "I own a thousand shares of stock of one of the best railroads in the country. I am interested to a considerable extent in mining and lumber, and I have a clear title to"—
"What did you say," she exclaimed, "that you have a title?"
"Yes, I"—
"Oh, Alfred, you must have known all along that I tried to seem cold just to keep from betraying my love—my deep, deep love—too soon. Don't tell me anything more about your money. You may name the day. I can be ready in a week if you say so. Let's talk some more about your title."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Pertinent Question.

Nordy—Here's another freak marriage ceremony. Man met a girl at a county fair. He was introduced at 10 a. m., proposed at 10:15, and at 11:30 they were married in a balloon.

TOBACCO SECRETS.

Turkish and Virginian Leaves Are Varieties of the Same Plant.

How many people even among the most confirmed smokers know what is the difference between Turkish and Virginian tobacco?

The smoker, of course, can tell you which is which at the first whiff, but if you ask him what the original distinction is between the two he will tell you that one comes from Turkey and the other from the States.

He is wrong. You could grow Turkish and Virginian tobaccos in the same field, for they are merely two different varieties of the same plant. Turkish is the leaf of Nicotiana rustica, while Virginia is Nicotiana glauca. Of course the two are often blended by tobaccoists.

Again, what constitutes the difference between "strong" and "mild" tobacco? It is simple enough. The strong product is so manufactured that it burns slowly, the result being that the contained nicotine is distilled in an unaltered state. Mild tobaccos are those which burn well, and thus their contained nicotine is consumed or decomposed, with the result that a less narcotic smoke is formed.

We often hear cheap cigars spoken of as "cabbage leaves," and doubtless many people believe that these are actually adulterated with other substances than tobacco. Often in such a weed the outside wrapper is noticed to be patched with pale green, and this fact is held proof of the cabbage leaf libel. The piece of greenish leaf is real tobacco which has been plucked unripe or not properly cured. It is only to be found in thin, poor leaf.—London Express.

USE OF FRENCH WORDS.

A Practice That Does Not Help the English Language.

Why do people persist in using French words when there are good old English words to serve the purpose? It is a habit that is growing daily. For instance, at dinner people give you "menu" instead of "bill of fare," though the items are such English dishes as boiled cod, roast beef and apple tart. One is accommodated with a serviette instead of a napkin, an English word, but originally of French origin, as is the Scotch word napery, used for household linen. When you enter a shop you are served with corsets instead of stays, costumes by a costumiere instead of dresses by a dressmaker. "Blouses" take the place of shirts or waists, and hose are offered for stockings. The former word is, however, English. At the theater we have programmes instead of playbills and matinees in place of afternoon performances. Toupes are adjusted with as much ease as hats, and we eat in a restaurant as cheerfully as in a dining room. There are, of course, untranslatable words which must be used, but our good old English language is rapidly becoming a hotchpotch of foreign words, while telegraphy is doing its best to oust all the crisp and racy Saxon speech. Whenever possible let us determine to use an English instead of a French word, both in literature and conversation.—London Graphic.

Pines For Church Shirkers.

After being dormant for some years the net (3 Jas. I. c. 4, 1696) which provided that any person absenting himself from his church on a Sunday without sufficient excuse should be fined twelvence for each absence and imprisoned in default of distress on his goods until the fine was paid was received in 1838. A report of the inspectors of prisons contains a list of eleven persons in Lancashire fined and imprisoned under the act between Feb. 12, 1839, and May 10, 1840. In one case a laborer was in prison for ten weeks (until released by order of the home secretary) after being convicted in a penalty of 1 shilling, with 14 shillings costs, for having been absent from church a single Sunday. This net was repealed, so far as regards Roman Catholics, in 1844, and wholly in 1846.—London Chronicle.

The Dentist's Pan.

"Mr. Dento, I want a tooth pulled. I'm a great coward when it comes to enduring pain, and yet I'm afraid of both laughing gas and chloroform."
"You might be happy with ether."

MINUET DANCED AT THE HOWARD

And the Guests Enjoy Excellent Music Saturday Night. A Noted Violinist Present.

Major John B. Downing, of Middleport, O., formerly known to old time Mississippi steamboat men as Maj. Jack Downing, the noted Cincinnati and New Orleans pilot of Mark Twain's works, whose friend he was, furnished several excellent violin selections at the entertainment given by Mrs. J. C. Howard, Saturday night, as a parting tribute to the popularity of Mr. and Mrs. Hage, of Orlando, and Judge and Mrs. Reynolds, of Talbot county, Maryland, who left today.

Maj. Downing, who is known throughout the middle west as the "Old Bull of America," was accompanied by his wife on the piano in the opening number on the program.

Mrs. J. C. Howard, dressed in a cream silk, made up in the style of yesteryear, recited "The Minuet of Olden Times," and then showed the guests how this most stately of dances and beautiful figures should be danced.

Vocal solos, excellently rendered by Mrs. Downing and piano and violin duets by Maj. and Mrs. Downing followed, which were loudly enjoyed.

Mrs. Howard, who had in the meantime changed her costume, appeared in a red accordion silk gown and, with several of the guests acting as pupils, gave exhibitions of how many teachers taught latter day dances, which proved decidedly amusing.

Maj. Downing and Mrs. Howard next gave an exhibition in clog dancing, to the accompaniment of the violin, played by the former.

Mrs. Howard treated the guests to a violin obligato, much to their surprise, but on stepping forward to take her seat the joke was revealed. Maj. Downing had been concealed behind her and with arms extended around, was playing on his valuable Stradivarius.

The evening's entertainment was a most unique one and was thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

LAUNCH PARTIES SATURDAY

Despite the Inclement Weather Two Merry Parties Thoroughly Enjoyed Themselves on That Day.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Osborn, of Cleveland, gave their friends, Mrs. Wilson, of Cleveland; Capt. and Mrs. D. B. Stambaugh, of Youngstown; Capt. and Mrs. Hartzell, of Beloit, and C. M. Chaffee, of Columbus, all of Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Saeger, of Saegerstown, Pa., a delightful trip up the Tomoka on the launch Osceola Saturday.

A number of suspicious looking bottles on the forward deck caused considerable comment, but on closer inspection they were found to contain only Lily water. A fine lunch, thanks to The Ridgewood and Mrs. Green of The Cleveland, was served en route.

The party saw many alligators, and returned in good season after a very enjoyable day.

A party of guests from The Des-land chartered the Cornell Saturday for a day's outing and fishing at the Inlet and New Smyrna. An excellent dinner was served them at Paccetti's and they returned to the city with a fine string of fish.

In the party were: Sheldon Swope, Terra Haute, Ind.; D. R. Clark, Rochester, N. Y., and Edwin Jones, Pittsburg, Pa.

Journal's Antique Census.

Six thousand pounds of fish are consumed weekly by citizens of Daytona, according to the GAZETTE-NEWS. As the population is only 1,600, we confidently expect to soon hear of Daytona people sporting fins and growing scales.—Pensacola Journal.

The Journal goes back to the census of 1900 to ascertain Daytona's population. Since then this city has grown. Seabreeze and Goodall also depend mainly for food supplies on the markets of this city which, with its outlying people trading here, claims a nominal population of at least 3,000. At this time of the year, when there are more visitors in the city than ever before, the population is estimated at from six to eight thousand.

Pleased With Daytona.

A fine looking old gentleman was introduced to the News reporter by the popular night clerk of The Ridgewood, Harry Ledyard. The gentleman was David C. Herbst, of Pittsburg, and the reporter was told that he was a judge of the Superior Court of his State.

Mr. Herbst laughed heartily and denied the charge, and stated that it had been but a few minutes since he had been accused of being a bishop. Mr. Herbst, now a retired business man, was at one time a prominent figure among the oil men of Western Pennsylvania. He is accompanied on the tour to Florida by his wife and niece, Miss Stella H.
Taylor, of Philadelphia. Speaking of Florida and his impressions of this town he said:

"This is my first trip to the land of sunshine and flowers and it has been a most delightful one to all of us. We have visited many places on the East Coast and throughout the State but this is the most homelike, the prettiest of all. The houses are neat and well kept, your streets are fine and the beach driving is magnificent. When I start South next season commend me to Daytona and her charming people.

Foster Rogers, of Brookline, Mass., left today for points down the East Coast. He will return in about ten days and again be a guest of The Austin.

Baby and Mandy will take a trip to Coney Island, for the amusement of all who come to Daytona's big free Street Fair, March 14 to 18.

Warrants are out for Ewing Rice
and Bob White, accused of disorderly conduct.

Hilton House, lately known as The Lone Bay Inn, has never been so well patronized as it has this season.
Mr. Hilton will open up a summer boarding house on the beach
about April 1st.

ORIGIN OF WHIST.

The Game Was First Called Triumph
and Afterward Trump.

Whist was first called triumph, a name which was afterward corrupted into trump. The eighteenth century saw whist in its primitive form, the whole object of the game being to win tricks by leading high cards or by trumping. Then came the era of Hoyle, which may be said to have lasted from 1730 to 1800 and taught players to think not only of their own hands, but of the other hands also, and to take advantage of the positions of the cards in them. Hoyle also taught that trumps might be more profitably employed than in simple trumping and showed that they might be used to disarm the adversary and to obtain secondary advantage in trick making by other suits of less apparent power. It was not until 1800 that the philosophical era can be said to have begun, and the origin of the new movement was a knot of young men at Cambridge, England, known as the Little Whist school.
This body kept records of its games,
but no one thought of making the data known until 1861. Coherence in the system of play was still wanting, and this was supplied in 1864 with Dr.
Pole's essay on the theory of the modern scientific whist.

THE ART OF EATING.

Food Must Please the Mind as Well
as the Palate.

Pawlow has established the physiological importance of the mental state on digestion, having shown, for instance, that delirious produce secretion of gastric juice as soon as they are perceived by the eye, even before they are eaten.

The food must not only be palatable,
but must be served in an attractive manner—fine dishes, table decorations,
etc.

In eating we must take time to chew
our food thoroughly. This serves a double purpose—first, through the act of mastication the coarser particles of food are broken up; second, more saliva is secreted and is thoroughly mixed with the food. The digestion of starch is thus materially aided, and the proteids are made more easily accessible to the action of the gastric juice.

Water should accompany each meal.
It increases the appetite and the enjoyment of food.

After eating we should rest a little while before returning to our work.—
Dr. Max Einhorn in Medical Record.

A DIFFICULT PENANCE.

Irish Pilgrims to the Skellig Rocks
Risk Their Lives.

Ten miles off the coast of Kerry, in the west of Ireland, lie the Skellig rocks, one of which has been for years
the scene of a difficult penance. A zig-zag path leads up some 700 feet to a lighthouse, but 700 feet more must be climbed before the summit is reached, where stand the ruins of St. Finian's monastery and a cross of St. Michael.

Here on the anniversary of St. Michael devotees risk their lives in performing their devotions. First they have to squeeze themselves through the Needle's Eye, a tunnel in the rock thirteen feet long, the passing up which is like the ascent of a chimney. Then they creep on all fours up the Stone of Pain, on whose smooth surface one false step is fatal; then, getting astride the Spindle, a rock 1,500 feet above the Atlantic and projecting some ten feet,
each pilgrim must "ride a cock horse to St. Michael's cross," say a Paternoster and shuffle back as best he can.
—Pearson's Weekly.

Hams.

A mother sent her twelve-year-old daughter to the pork butcher with money to purchase a ham. "Tell Mr.
— that I want a ham exactly like the last two I bought," she said, and when the little lady arrived at the shop she delivered the message thus: "Mr. —, mamma says she wants another ham off the same hog as the last two she bought." How many of us wish that when we accidentally pick up a first rate ham the same hog could keep on producing its like for time and eternity!
As the butcher says: "Hams run pecularly. We may have 'em all fine for a month or two; then they suddenly get tough and dry and hard and altogether disappointing." — New York Press.

DAYTONA is situated upon the west bank of the Halifax River at its farthest extreme and midway between its source at Bulow Bay and its outlet at Mosquito Inlet. It is in latitude 29, seventy four miles from St. Augustine and one mile from the Atlantic Ocean, and is acknowledged to be without a rival for beauty among the villages of the South. Its site is upon what is known as high hammock land that was covered by nature with a most royal growth of majestic forest trees, and among these trees is the town of today, with its beautiful cottages and well graded streets. The result is that all along the wide avenues that intersect the town are lovely live oak, cypress, oaks and hickories, many of them draped with graceful festoons of the gray Spanish moss, that overarch the street and walks, and among these are interspersed tall tropical palmettos, glossy-leaved magnolias, fragrant bay and coral-berried holly, and many other varieties, while in many places the wild grape, the trumpet vine and the magnolia climb and cling among the branches forming shady bowers and adding grace and beauty.

The town lies parallel with the Halifax River, and extends for nearly two miles along the shore. This river is the delight of the angler and the yachtsman and forms one of the town's greatest attractions.

The main avenues that run parallel with or intersect the river are all too wide, except Beach street, which is about sixty-five feet, but has a half mile of open, beautiful water abutting upon its eastern side, where the salt waves ebb and flow and along and across which comes the cooling, invigorating and health-giving breezes from off the wide Atlantic, which temper and render the Halifax climate one of the most perfect in the world. Daytona has many miles of well graded, macadam and shelled roads and streets, rendering it the

and added to these, but a mile away, are thirty miles of smooth, hard beach, that affords an unrivalled course for long distance cycling and driving or automobile racing. No town of equal size, North or South, numbers so many wheelmen, and cycling is a favorite pastime with the tourists summer and winter.

The Beautiful Cottages
that have been erected during the past years and are being built are rendering Daytona as famous for its fine homes as for its beautiful river, trees and avenues, and they are adding yearly to its attractions.

Not the least of these attractions to those securing homes in the South, and ranking second only to healthfulness and perfection of climate, is the fact that its population is chiefly composed of cultivated and intelligent people, accustomed to the refinements of home and social life. Added to these features are good churches, good public and private schools, stores, hotels, laundry, meat markets, novelty works, an opera house, electric lights for street and house illumination, a good telephone system, ice factory, Lily Water Works, and hot and cold baths, etc., and everything else can be procured that is necessary to make life comfortable. An important feature in the healthfulness of this town is the

Water Supply
which is derived from numerous flowing wells, of which there are probably 300 in the corporate limits. This flow is secured by boring wells to the depth of from 80 to 120 feet, passing through several strata of rock, and this depth assures purity from all surface contamination. The water is slightly impregnated with magnesia and iron, and holds sulphur in the shape of gas, which soon passes away.

The Population of Daytona proper is about 1,800. Added to this is a suburban population on main shore and peninsula of about 1,000 at Kingston, Blake, Old Seabreeze or Goodall, Seabreeze and Silver Beach, which are properly a part of the town and population.

Daytona Beach
lies one mile east of the town. It is approached by three good bridges over the river and well-graded avenues, and is the principal summer resort south of St. Augustine. It has more tourists during the summer than all other places south of that city combined, and is also becoming a favorite winter resort. The beach is wide, firm and smooth, by many considered the finest in the world, and the surf bathing is safe and excellent summer and winter. People who have tried Northern and Western summer resorts declare that there are none so perfect in comfort as Daytona beach.

Automobile Race Meet.
The Florida East Coast Automobile Association conducts an annual race meet on the beach, which has now a universal reputation as the greatest automobile race course in the world. The Daytona-Ormond Beach is hard as macadam, and an ideal stretch of thirty or more miles without a break makes it the natural racing ground for America.

At low tide the beach is bare for 300 feet and neither carriage wheel, bicycle or pedestrian can make a hardly visible imprint on the smooth and well-packed sand. It is no uncommon sight to see sail-rigged bicycles speeding with the velocity of the wind before a stiff breeze along the smooth beach, thus affording the most exhilarating sport known to man. Besides these, miles of hard-shelled, palm-fringed boulevards bring the lovers of the wheel and vehicles into direct touch with the mainland over the grand bridges which span the splendid Halifax River.

The beach from the sandy bluffs to the lowest point at ebbside, measures about 500 feet, and the average depth of the surf measures about two feet. A continuous gentle swell rolls in from the ocean from one to two feet in depth under normal conditions, making the beach an attractive and absolutely safe place for surf-bathing. Here the infant as well as the grey-haired veteran of many summers, can safely enjoy the luxury of a sea bath throughout the larger part of the year, while the strong and expert swimmer, can venture out further to test his strength and skill in battling with the inexhaustible powers of the mighty ocean.

The Peninsula
lying between river and ocean is one half mile wide, and is being rapidly improved, and there are many fine cottages and several good hotels, a opera house, two ocean piers, beach pavilion and a large casino.

A Remarkable Feature
at Daytona has been the yearly improvement in the style and value of the buildings that are being erected for homes. Men of capital of the North and West have become awakened to its advantages for winter residences, and valuable lots are being purchased and costly houses, beautiful in design and finish, are being erected, and beautiful homes, the abodes of wealth and culture are multiplying. Seabreeze (City Beautiful) and Goodall are settlements on the Ocean side of the peninsula across the Halifax River from Daytona.

At the foot of Ocean Boulevard, Seabreeze, a pier reaches 100 feet across the beach into the swelling surf of the ocean. This pier is a favorite resort of those who delight in the sport of fishing. The surf here abounds in trout, pompano, yellowtail, cavalle, whiting, drum, sheepshead and many other varieties of edible fish. During the fall season the famous sea bass affords royal sport, and it has been no uncommon occurrence to land a thousand pounds of this gamey fish in an afternoon. Individuals of them ranging from fifteen to thirty-five pounds in weight. Not only does the ocean offer this splendid sport but the Halifax River, only half a mile back of the ocean, is equally famous for its fine fishing, and the varieties that abound in the ocean are present in the river.

Hunting and fishing good. Fox, perleced guides and dogs may be had at reasonable prices.
